

MURDER AND SUICIDE.

Angry Husband, While Drunk, Shoots His Wife, Then Himself, Falls Backward and Fractures His Skull on Stone.

SHE IS LIKELY TO RECOVER.

He Has a Bullet in His Brain and There is Not Much Chance of His Surviving the Double Injury.

A Williamsburg husband tried to murder his wife and then take his own life just before noon today. He failed in his purpose of murder, but it is probable that he will succeed in his attempt at suicide as he has a bullet hole in his head and a fractured skull resulting from a fall.

The would-be murderer and suicide is Jacob Lichtman. He is forty years old and lived with his wife Sarah, at No. 402 Bushwick avenue. He is a painter, but he has not been working lately. He drank heavily and expected his wife to support him with what she made out of a little candy and grocery store which she ran in the front part of the building where they lived.

Mrs. Lichtman insisted that he should work, and they frequently quarreled. Last night Lichtman got drunk and they quarreled again. At noon he came into the store very much under the influence of liquor. Max Monnett and J. Cohen were in the store making purchases.

According to them, Lichtman never said a word to them about a revolver from his pocket and fired at his wife. The bullet struck her in the left side of the head, but did not go in. As the blood gushed from the wound Lichtman, thinking he had missed her, raised the weapon against himself and put a bullet in his right temple.

He fell backward with the shot and struck his head on the edge of a stove, cutting a great gash in it and fracturing his skull. The two customers ran into the street, followed by Mrs. Lichtman. She made her way to Max Gluckman's drug store on a neighboring corner, and an ambulance was summoned from St. Catherine's hospital, the man being unconscious.

It was ascertained that Mrs. Lichtman's wound was not serious. It was dressed and she went back to her home. Lichtman will probably die, as he received more of his fractured skull than the bullet wound, although the bullet is imbedded in the brain.

MOYNIHAN PLEADS FOR WAYWARD SON

But Magistrate Zeller Says the Young Man Is a Cur and Deserves No Consideration.

Edward E. Moynihan, son of ex-Police Capt. Moynihan, who had been in jail in the Harlem Court today on a charge of larceny brought by Mrs. Sophia Braunlich, of No. 406 East Fifteenth street. Moynihan obtained $100 from the woman by collecting a funeral bill twice.

He was given several opportunities to make the amount good, but did not do so, and his commitment followed. After Justice Zeller had held him for the Special Sessions his mother-in-law, Mrs. Annie Bremner, of No. 40 West One Hundred and Sixteenth street, offered to pay the money, but she was not allowed to do so.

During the afternoon Magistrate Zeller reconsidered his decision of the morning, not to have anything more to do with the case of young Moynihan. His change of mind was due to the solicitation of ex-Capt. Daniel C. Moynihan, the prisoner's father, who recently left the police force.

The former captain appeared in court and asked the Magistrate if he would discharge the prisoner if he would pay the money. The Magistrate replied that he could not do so. Mr. Moynihan said he would pay the money, but he was not allowed to do so.

Finally Mrs. Bremner made a request that he matter be settled in the Harlem Court was headed, and Magistrate Zeller communicated with the District Attorney by telephone, asking that a representative of that office be on hand at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, when the case will be gone over again and the Assistant District Attorney who appears will be asked to allow a settlement.

"It is as clean a case of larceny as ever was committed," said Magistrate Zeller, "and if he goes below hell certainly go to state's prison. I don't care anything for the man. He's a miserable cur, and ought to be in prison. I am looking after this poor woman, who has been cheated out of her money. If I can help her I shall be glad to do so."

Viljoen who first suggested employing the Boer in the Somaliland, but the authorities at that time were not prepared to accept his offer.

Gen. Viljoen, who is at the Herald Square Hotel, London, today said that when shown the London despatch that he knew nothing of the matter.

REBELS AT FEZ PEN SULTAN IN.

Ruler of Morocco Makes an Ineffectual Attempt to Cut His Way Out of the Besieged City.

FOREIGNERS ARE LEAVING.

MADRID, Dec. 30.—It is reported here that the Sultan of Morocco has been followed by the rebels who are investing Fez, in an attempt to break out of that city.

A despatch from Tangier, Morocco, today announced that the rebels had cut the aqueduct which supplied Fez with water and added that the city was now practically without water. It was further asserted that unless the Kabyle tribesmen from the south come to the aid of the place, the place must surrender within three days.

The mutiny, according to late advices from Fez, against the Sultan is spreading. The Moors are exhibiting photographs of him arrayed in ridiculous garb. The Sultan yesterday assembled the notables of the besieged town at the palace and exhorted them not to despair, assuring the chiefs that the imperial troops will ultimately triumph.

Great Britain and France have notified Spain that they have no intention of taking any advantage of the situation in Morocco, and that they desire the maintenance of the status quo, even in the event of the Sultan being deposed and his place taken by a Pretender. These communications have reassured the Spanish Government, which is thus relieved of fears of international complications.

Foreigners in the interior of Morocco have been advised to make for the coast, as provisions are scarce and communications are almost closed. The pretender himself is reported to be twenty miles from Fez. The crisis presents a grave international problem, as Spain, France and England are covetous of this rich strip of Mahomedan territory, and all are sufficiently near to send troops to the scene at a moment's notice. Warships of the three powers are now being hurried to this port.

The plan for a conference, it is said, has been in contemplation for nearly a year, and has been held in abeyance owing to the inability of the promoters to get hold of a majority of the League of Nations members generally. The holding concern will have a president, who will be regarded as above the party of the different lines. He will be appointed by J. P. Morgan.

ROCKEFELLER MADE $2,400,000 TO-DAY.

Six-Point Jump in Standard Oil Stock Brought the Millionaire Some Easy Money.

John D. Rockefeller made $2,400,000 today on the curb in Broad street by the advance in the price of Standard Oil shares in the outside market.

The stock opened at 67 bid, and was advanced to 70 1/2 on small transactions.

As Mr. Rockefeller is said to own 400,000 shares of the $700,000,000 Standard Oil monopoly, his profits, on paper, were $2,400,000 on the day's transactions. It is authoritatively denied by the Standard Oil people that they have acquired a monopoly of the product of the Beaumont oil fields, and it is further said that their only interest there is in sending to market the oil that is sold to them.

The head of the largest meat packing industry in the world for many years prior to his death never travelled without his physician; everywhere he was accompanied by his medical adviser; he hired him for his exclusive attendance by the year, and considered the large salary paid for such service as a part of the business investment. He did not do this because he was a hypocrite, in constant fear of illness and death; on the contrary he was an exceptionally robust man, but he realized that the principal asset in his enormous business was his own personal health, and to keep physically and mentally well and strong was a business proposition, pure and simple.

It is so with every business man and woman. A slight cold in the head or throat may pass off in a few days, or it may develop into pneumonia, chronic catarrh, or an irritating throat trouble. In any event, its departure should be hastened by some simple antiseptic preparation like Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, which are dissolved in the mouth and thus reach and destroy the germs of Catarrh, Pneumonia, Consumption, before they have a chance to propagate and thrive in the inflamed mucous membrane of the nose and throat.

To burden the stomach with drugs and stimulants is a foolish and often dangerous way to combat a cold, because stimulants are always followed by corresponding depression, and where there is any tendency to pneumonia increase the danger by increasing the heart's action.

A popular school-teacher in Pittsburgh writes: "I am a walking advertisement for Stuart's Catarrh Tablets. The change from a crowded steam heated school-room to a raw, chill out doors kept me nursing colds in the head and throat from fall to spring. Throat irritation made it difficult for me to read or speak and conduct my classes. My drugist, with whom I spent a large part of my salary for cough lozenges and poultices, one day advised me to try Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, and I shall never cease to praise them. I took one or two occasionally, but I stop it each cold occasion, and I have done my mission. My work with my pupils has been so extensive that coughs and colds are almost unknown amongst the youngsters in my room."

TRIED TO HANG HIMSELF IN CELL.

Nephew of Night Warden Flynn, of the Tombs, Accused of Breaking Into Jeweller's, Attempted Suicide.

CUT DOWN JUST IN TIME.

Discouraged by the loss of his friends, who have allowed him to remain in the Westchester County Jail since last July without securing a trial, Allyne Fullerton, seventeen years old, who says he is a nephew of Night Warden Flynn, of the Tombs, attempted to end his life today.

He tore his shirt into ribbons and made a rope and when Deputy Warden Frank Wynn found him he was barely alive. He had climbed on a bar on his cell door, and after tying the rope to the lock was slowly strangling. On account of the patent locking system on the cells the door could not be opened, because the movement of the locks would have killed him instantly, and he had to be cut down from outside.

Fullerton was laid on the corridor floor and Jail Physician Purdy, after working over him a long time, brought him back to life. When he opened his eyes he said: "Oh! let me die. I don't want to live any longer."

Fullerton was arrested on July 15 on the charge of breaking into a jewelry store at Tarrytown. He was bailed out by William J. Hyland, a Tammany politician, but was later rearrested.
